In my web movie app, I design three new features which change a user's profile picture, create and manage the watchlist and comment on the actor and director .

Changing a user's profile that people can change their profile photo on this website.

And user can add and delete the movie in their watchlist. Whether a user likes the actor and directors or not, they can write the comment on the website.

If a user wants to change his profile picture that he can click the original profile picture, then the website shows the profile of him and there is a bottom which can change the profile picture that anyone picture you like. This website designs a personalized website for users, and they can find the movie,actors and director which they like on this website. Improving a user's personalization can enhance a user's self recognition on this website. Changing the profile picture can be the most intuitive and simple to establish and leave the user's impression.

These good reviews could make directors and actors leave a nice impression on people who don't know them, this may let more people watch movies that are relevant to them. But if users don't like directors and actors, they can also leave comments on this site. People who don't know them and they can know that the movies related to them may not be good.
